HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Boom the field day.

Division 1 will hold its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The new Ladies' Auxiliary should have the hearty support of every member in this city.

Toledo Hibernians held their reunion last Sunday. Mayor Jones was one of the speakers.

Let us all meet in Jeff next Wednesday night. A jolly good time awaits all who take the trip.

An auxiliary to Division 13 of Erie county, N. Y., has been organized by the ladies of Dew.

Port Wayne Hibernians will celebrate Irish day August 27. An elaborate programme has been arranged.

President John Cavanaugh, of Division 3, is in the race for our World's Fair trip. He has some hustling friends.

Division 4 will hold a big meeting next Wednesday night. A class of ten or twelve candidates will be initiated.

A complete list of the prizes to be given to successful contestants on Irish field day will soon be made known.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Division 5, of Albany, N. Y., celebrated its fifth anniversary recently with an outing at Dohler Park.

The Ladies' Auxiliary No. 1, of St. Paul, Minn., is growing rapidly and at the next meeting will initiate a class of twenty candidates.

State President Keenan asks that all members of the County Board be present Sunday evening to witness the initiation by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

President John Hennessy, of Division 4, will announce the various sub-committees to assist on Irish field day at the meeting next Wednesday night.

Division 3 has decided to give the member that secures the greatest number of new candidates a trip to the next national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

State Secretary William T. Meehan and Dennis J. Coleman visited several divisions in the East during the past week. They will doubtless have something interesting to tell when they return.

Members of the order in the East have adopted a new plan to increase membership. Division 5, of Providence, R. I., has offered one year's dues free to the member bringing in the greatest number of new members before December 31.

SAD LOSS

To Entire Community Grieved by the Death of Jacob Burkholder.

Jacob J. Burkholder, the well known carriage builder of this city, died a victim of heart disease at St. Joseph's Infirmary last Saturday morning. The funeral took place from the family residence, 320 East College street, at 8:45 o'clock Monday and from St. Mary Magdalen's church at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Burkholder was born in Switzerland fifty-eight years ago, but came to Louisville when quite a youth. He was energetic, thrifty and intelligent, and after learning the carriage building trade he embarked in business for himself. For many years he carried on his manufactory at 128 West Main street. He was quiet and unassuming in manner and at the same time had the confidence of the business public. He leaves a wife and the following children: John J. Burkholder, who was associated with his father in business; Robert Burkholder, the well known violinist; Mrs. Edward R. Constantine, Sister Mary Louise, of the Sisters of Mercy, who was in the world Miss Florence Burkholder, and Miss Mary Burkholder.

Mr. Burkholder was a worthy citizen, a loving husband, an affectionate father and a devout Catholic. His family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

SISTER ITTA DEAD.

Sister Itta died in the convent at Oldenburg, Ind., last Saturday. She was a member of the Franciscan order. In the world Sister Itta was known as Miss Emma Kraft and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Kraft, of 1401 East Market street, New Albany. She entered the novitiate nine years ago and was noted for piety and efficiency. Besides her parents she leaves several brothers and sisters. They are John and George Kraft, Mrs. Francis Kleber, Mrs. August Ruter, Mrs. Frank Klumb, Mrs. Peter Petter and Miss Alice Kraft. The funeral took place Monday in the convent at Oldenburg. The interment was in the cemetery grounds of the institution.

ALL GOOD MEN

Chosen to Guide Destinies of the Democratic Party This Fall.

The Democratic campaign in Louisville has started off most propitiously, inasmuch as able and energetic men have been chosen to conduct the campaign in this city and county, which constitutes the Fifth district of Kentucky. "Well begun is half done," says an old adage, and as the Democrats have begun their campaign well it ought to be an augury that it will end well.

The City and County Executive Committee met last Saturday and named the following Campaign Committee for this district: F. Joseph Herrmann, who represents the Second ward; Chairman; Alderman G. Wallace Embury, First ward; Dr. M. K. Allen, Third ward; Andy Ludwig, Fourth ward; James B. Smith, Fifth ward; John H. Weller, Sixth ward; Robert J. Hagan, Seventh ward; Louis Seelbach, Eighth ward; William J. Baird, Ninth ward; James O'Connor, Tenth ward; Edward J. O'Brien, Eleventh ward; Paul C. Barth, Twelfth ward; Isaac P. Miller, Charles Cox and Louis Kaplan, Jefferson county.

Each and every one of these men have been workers in the ranks of Democracy for years and have risen to leadership by sheer force of merit. They are able, intelligent, earnest, and have the good of the party at heart. Besides these the State Campaign Committee has selected County Clerk William J. Semonin and Official Indexer Henry A. Bell as an advisory committee. As a matter of fact Messrs. Semonin and Bell will be superior to the local campaign committee. Both Messrs. Semonin and Bell have long been recognized as leaders of their party. There are many voters in Jefferson county, who are not known to either one or both of these gentlemen. In their hands the affairs of the Democratic party this fall will be safe.

F. Joseph Herrmann, as Chairman of the Campaign Committee, is the right man in the right place. He has a personal following second to none in the city. In choosing a Secretary the committee showed its wisdom by selecting Louis Summers, a born politician, who is cool, capable and energetic.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. William Tynan, aged thirty-six years, died at the family residence, 406 Spring street, last Sunday morning. Heart trouble caused her death. She left a husband and eight children. The deceased was a sister-in-law of Deputy Bailiff Mike Tynan and was well known and highly respected in the East End. The funeral took place Monday from St. Paul's church. For the bereaved husband and motherless children there is felt the greatest sympathy.

Joseph P. Armbruster, thirty-two years old, died at his home, 312 West Spring street, New Albany, last Sunday. He was a well known printer and member of Typographical Union 169. The funeral took place from St. Mary's church, New Albany, on Tuesday morning. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Armbruster and leaves the following brothers and sisters: Julius, Frank, Enoch and Albert Armbruster and Miss Louise Armbruster, of Cincinnati, and Miss Armbruster, of Oldenburg, Ind.

The sympathy of Hibernians in all the Falls Cities goes out to County President Richard Fleming, of New Albany, whose fourteen-year-old daughter, Miss Helen Fleming, died at the family residence, 1422 Locust street, last Friday week. She had been ill of typhoid fever for several weeks past. The funeral services took place from Holy Trinity church Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Kelly being the celebrant of the solemn requiem mass. Miss Fleming was a bright and charming girl, whose death is mourned by many.

Frank Raggio, one of the most popular and efficient firemen in the Louisville department died at his home, 1806 Sixth street, last Wednesday afternoon. Death was due to paralysis and was sudden and unexpected. Although Mr. Raggio had been ill for several weeks past, no one thought that his ailment was serious, so that his death was a terrible shock to his friends. The deceased was a native of Louisville and was a brother of William Raggio, operator in the fire tower, and of Patrolman John Raggio. He was thirty-eight years old and had been in the department during the past twelve years. At the time of his death he was a member of the No. 7 Engine Company. He leaves a wife, who has the sympathy of many friends in her bereavement. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

William White, of this city, was among the first party of Americans to be received by Pius X.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The indications are that the potato crop all over Ireland will be much greater than the average this year.

The news of the death of Pope Leo XIII. was received with universal sorrow in Ireland and many Irishmen and women sent messages of sympathy to the Vatican.

The Sligo County Council has had to curtail work on the roads owing to the fact that the bill for extra constabulary for the year amounted to nearly $10,000.

Jane McGee, a fifteen-year-old Catholic girl in Belfast, was assaulted and beaten with stones by a riotous mob of Orange rowdies. She will be in the hospital for some time.

The Rev. Father John P. Purcell, for more than twenty years curate of the Star of the Sea parish, Sandymount, died recently. He was one of the best beloved priests in Ireland.

The proprietors of the Waterford Bridge and Ferry Company, in order to facilitate the building of a new bridge, have offered to consider a proposition from the corporation for the purchase of their property.

Martha Hore, assistant cook in Rathmines police station, was badly burned as the result of her apron catching fire from the stove. A policeman who went to her assistance suffered painful burns on the right hand.

James Keating, of the Cork fire brigade, recently saved the life of an escaped lunatic who had jumped into the water to escape her pursuers. This is the fourteenth life saved by Keating, who is as fearless of water as he is of fire.

Promoters of the Irish Institute of Commerce and Industries have drafted a constitution that embraces all the energies of the institute. It is expected that the constitution will receive the final approval of the Dublin Bureau of Trade ere another month elapses.

Mrs. Harriet McDonald, wife of William Archibald MacDonald, who represented Ossory division of Queen's county in the British Parliament from 1886 to 1892, died recently at Glengary. She was an English woman by birth, but was devoted to the land of her adoption not less than to her husband, who was blind.

ONLY A DREAM.

Pat Lally Narrowly Escaped Taking a Drink With the President.

"I'll take off my hat to President Roosevelt every time," said Pat Lally, the genial inspector of the Louisville Railway Company, while talking to a group of friends a few nights ago. "The President is a gentleman. He is all right."

"You must have met him" said some one in the crowd half inquiringly.

"I'll tell you how it happened," said Pat. "When I took that trip East I went to a swell hotel. I registered and was assigned to my room. After I surveyed the room, and the furniture was swell, I looked out the window. Gosh! I was so high up I had to take two looks to see the street cars down below. On the wall was a coiled rope fastened to a peg. I tied this around me and went to bed, but not to sleep. I thought of all the devilment I had done and repented and prayed, something I ought to do often. By and by a number of gentlemen came in and told me that President Roosevelt had sent for me to come and see him at Oyster Bay. I didn't owe the President anything but respect, so I thought I'd go and pay him before he stopped the paper. I was cordially received. He asked about Albert Scott, George Todd, Charley Sapp and other local politicians. We chatted together for some time and then President Roosevelt said: 'Pat, I know you're from Kentucky. Will you have a drink?'"

"Now I don't usually drink, but a question like that was almost a command. I said I did. I was not used to the salt air and my throat was quite raw. President Roosevelt brought out that liquor and it looked fine. He said: 'Pat, will you have your toddy hot or cold?'"

"I said hot, and while he was heating the water I woke up in the hotel and with the fire escape rope still around me."

FIFTY YEARS.

The fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of St. John's Cathedral, Milwaukee, was celebrated last Sunday. A grand musical programme was rendered. The Cathedral was dedicated July 31, 1853, by Monsignor Bedini, Bishop of Thebes and Papal Delegate to Brazil. Bishop Hughes, of New York, preached the morning sermon and Bishop Purcell delivered a lecture in the evening.
